

Dr. Md Idris is working as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Arabic, University of Lucknow. He has completed his Ph.D from The English and Foreign Languages University (EFLU) Hyderabad on topic: “ALF LAILAH WA LAILAH, IT'S TRANSLATION IN ENGLISH AND ITS IMPACT ON ENGLISH LITERATURE”. He has one published book entitled: “CONTRIBUTION OF Dr IJTEBA NADWI TO ARABIC LITERATURE” beside this, he has written 12 articles in Arabic and Urdu languages which have been published in renowned Journals of Arabic Urdu on topics related to Cultural exchange between India –Yemen, Impact of Prophet (PBUH) On Arab and world society, Biography of Indian Arabic scholars, Status of Women in Islam, Contribution of Indian Scholars to syntax and morphology etc. He has participated and presented papers in several national and international seminars and conferences. Though he focuses on classical Arabic literature, but his area of interest is Indo –Arab studies.

Contact Details:

Department of Arabic

University of Lucknow, Lucknow