About the Faculty Development Program

The goal of researches in any field is to promote happiness, well-being and quality of life of people at large.

Indian moral vision of Sarvebhavantu Sukhinah can be achieved when meaningful researches, multidisciplinary in nature are pursued.

The proposed Faculty Development Program will facilitate the participants in developing an understanding of the concept of happiness, the methods and techniques of data collection, data analysis and interpretation.

Participants will be apprised of recent researches in the filed on happiness, its psychosocial, physiological and neural correlates, so as to provide impetus for happiness researches in different fields.
