Report

Technology is continuously advancing the pattern of Indian Education in the right direction and because of this; the field of Education has become wider. It is no longer limited to the walls of the classroom. During this unusual time, University of Lucknow is adopting innovative solutions to ensure continuity of Education. It is important to reach out to students to keep them inspired, motivated and engaged so that they can cope up with this challenging time in a productive way. One such remarkable step is to utilize resources and find new ways of educating. To address this need, University of Lucknow has initiated webinars on various subjects.

Various webinars are being organized by Lucknow University to run the educational activity smoothly even in this difficult time. In this series of webinars, on Tuesday, 21 April 2020, a Webinar on E-Content Development for Effective Education for Teacher Educators was held by the Department of Education, University of Lucknow, Lucknow. It was inaugurated by Prof. Alok Kumar Rai, Vice-Chancellor, University of Lucknow. In his inaugural address, he highlighted the importance of e-content in the present time and motivated teachers to use and develop E-Content for their students.

Prof. Amita Bajpai, Head, Department of Education, University of Lucknow, presented an overview of the importance and utility of e-content in the current scenario and various initiatives taken by the Department in such field. She said that e-content is a means through which we can learn from anywhere.

Teaching and learning with the help of technology is the medium to move ahead with time. She also said that anyone can discuss with academicians from India and abroad and take advantage of their learning material with the use of technology and e-content. Later, Dr. Kiran Lata Dangwal, Additional Dean Academic Cell, University of Lucknow highlighted the concept and emphasized on the need of E-Content in the current situation through her lively experiences. During her session, she also explained how an effective e-content can reach out to a wide audience in short duration with effectiveness. She said that knowledge of technology is necessary for constantly changing and progressive society and since teachers work to educate the society, so it is important for teachers to mould themselves with the changing society and hence knowledge of technology is essential. She made her presentation energetic through an interactive session and kept the audience engaged throughout the session. Dr. Dangwal is one of the members of Online Education and E-Content Compliance Committee of University of Lucknow.

Towards the last phase of the Webinar, there was prescheduled time for question and answer session to ensure two-way participation. The Webinar was concluded with Vote of Thanks by Prof. Dinesh Kumar, Department of Education, University of Lucknow. The audience was overwhelmed by such a detailed and interactive session and was inspired to adapt technology in Education. Even during this crisis, teachers are ready for effective teaching and this has become possible through e-content. Participants were very happy to attend this Webinar and they felt a positive attitude towards e-content development within themselves. More than five hundred teacher educators had registered for this Webinar. This was a very successful initiation by the Department of Education, University of Lucknow, Lucknow.
